ELECTRIC VEHICLE CHARGERS INTRODUCED AT MARKETPLACE GUNG AHLIN

Marketplace Gungahlin proudly unveils the installation of three cutting-edge electric vehicle charging stations, each featuring dual ports. This transformative initiative demonstrates Marketplace Gungahlin's dedication to environmental responsibility and the cultivation of a sustainable future for the local community.

In conjunction with the recent implementation of additional solar panels in the Stage Four development Level Up, this milestone marks a significant step forward in Marketplace Gungahlin promoting environmentally conscious practices and fostering a more sustainable future for the community. Electric vehicles continue to gain traction as a sustainable alternative to traditional automobiles, with a remarkable 269% increase observed between 2022 and 2023. This exponential growth can be attributed to the myriad benefits they offer, including reduced fuel expenses, enhanced efficiency, and their positive impact on the environment. Marketplace Gungahlin is proud to offer convenient access to charging infrastructure that supports cleaner, greener and more cost-efficient mobility solutions to the local community.

Jeremy Wilson, the Centre Manager of Marketplace Gungahlin, expressed his excitement about the new addition: "We are absolutely thrilled to announce the arrival of these high-end electric vehicle charges to the centre, with the ability to charge six cars at once. We are committed to further reducing our carbon footprint and advancing our sustainability initiatives and hope that these new charging stations will encourage our patrons to embrace eco-friendly options".

Marketplace Gungahlin partnered with ENGIE to successfully install these chargers, further solidifying ENGIE's pledge to reach net-zero emissions by 2045. This collaboration showcases ENGIE's unwavering commitment to sustainability and innovation. As stated by Greg Schumann, ENGIE ANZ Director of Green Mobility, the Marketplace Gungahlin facility serves as a prime example of the escalating demand for 'destination charging'. Schumann emphasizes, 'Strategically placing EV charging infrastructure in popular locations such as shopping centres, tourist attractions, and daily routine destinations is crucial.'
